

Laura Pujia

PhD candidate at “Villard D’Honnecourt” III ciclo

Università IUAV-Venezia

Laura Pujia (1982) is architect and PhD candidate of the third cycle of international PhD Villard d’Honnecourt Architecture at IUAV in Venice, under the guidance of Prof. Alberto Ferlenga. The aim of her research proposal is to investigate the role that architecture plays in the field of Heritage adopted in development and promotion of Cultural Landscape, in particular looking into the potential of cultural itineraries. At the same time, she works and carries out organizational tasks, mentoring and collaboration in teaching at the Faculty of Architecture at the University Roma Tre, in particular with the Dean and Professor Francesco Cellini. In the same University, she is also teaching coordinator of the International Master Architettura|Storia|Progetto [Directed by F.Cellini] and of Post-graduate Course Cultura del Progetto in Ambito Archeologico [Directed by M.M.Segarra Lagunes], and from 2010 she has participated in the organization of the International Workshop Architecture, Archeology and Landscape collaborating with the University of FAUP de Oporto [Portugal] and ETSA de Valladolid [Spain].